GUARD BILL IS SENT TO SENATE BY HOUSE TODAY

Will Authorize Calling Up of Guardsmen and Army Reserves

Washington, Aug. 22—(AP)—Legislation for mobilization of 400,000 National Guardsmen and army reserves was approved finally by the house today and sent to the senate for expected prompt acceptance.

The house accepted a report of a joint committee named to resolve differences between senate and house versions of the legislation which President Roosevelt had requested.

House action was by a voice vote.

The legislation would involve about 242,000 Guardsmen, 116,000 reserve officers and 50,000 enlisted men.

The guard legislation has been considered by military men as a necessary preliminary to any sort of draft program. The guard and reserve units would furnish officers and men for organizing and training conscripts.

The senate heatedly debated the draft program provided for by the Burke-Wadsworth bill through another session today, and Democratic Leader Barkley maneuvered for a final vote by the week-end. The house committee, dominated by a Republican-Democratic group favoring delay, put off a final vote on its conscription bill until Tuesday hoping the senate would act before that time.

"Permanent Shackles"

Senator Ashurst (D-Ariz.) told his colleagues that if congress approved a peacetime draft bill it would "fasten shackles on this country that will stay forever".

He shouted that he would be willing to accept defeat for reelection if that would assure rejection of the legislation.

General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, asserted today that the war department has "plenty of material" to train all the men who would be drafted for military service under the Burke-Wadsworth bill.

As the senate undertook another session of debate on the measure today, Leader Barkley proposed that a limitation of 1-200,000 be placed on the number of men who could be conscripted in any one year.

The majority leader also said he would ask the senate to limit debate on the measure in an effort to dispose of it this week.

The house military committee postponed until Tuesday a final vote on its version of the compulsory military legislation.

The question of equipment supply has been raised in the senate and in other quarters. General Marshall told his press conference that "we have enough 30 caliber rifles for 3,000,000 men right now".

Little Difference

It makes little difference for training purposes, he said, whether a soldier is equipped with a semi-automatic or 30 caliber rifle. The men understood that they actually did have all of the basic equipment they needed, he said, and lacked only such modern items as anti-tank and anti-aircraft guns.

With regard to the lack of tanks at army maneuvers, Marshall explained that the newly-created armored corps had been kept intact for training as a unit, rather than dispersed among other units.

Regarding a charge made by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) yesterday that Secretary Stimson suppressed news of growing voluntary enlistments in order to promote draft legislation, Marshall acknowledged that a paragraph containing a favorable report had been removed from the August issue of Army Recruiting News, but he said that neither Stimson nor he knew about it until each had read Wheeler's statement.

The removal was ordered, he said, by a minor officer in the Adjutant General's office who considered the report more a matter of opinion than of fact.

Copies of Article

He furnished reporters with copies of the article which had been removed. It contained the following statement: "The Army recruiting program as a whole, a war department radiogram reveals, is progressing at an excellent rate. Combined results to date (July 12, 1940), reads the radiogram from Washington, 'are ahead of schedule originally projected. Total enlistments during June was highest number made in one month in army's peacetime history. An appreciable increase in production

'Secret Ray Gun' Explodes, Burns Inventor Badly

St. Louis, Aug. 22—(AP)—A "powerful ray gun" jealously guarded "secret weapon" devised by John Exeros, a self-taught scientist, exploded last night and burned the inventor seriously.

At City hospital today Exeros declared his confidence in the "weapon" was undiminished. If anything, the accident further convinced him of its potency.

"I was getting ready for a final test, the inventor explained. 'At last the reaction power tube (steel tube pivoted like a machine gun) was in order. I had planned to send a ray like lightning right up into the sky, a penetrating and destroying ray'."

The explosion occurred in a second-floor bedroom laboratory and caused a fire which was quickly extinguished.

Exeros said he planned to try the gun out before Army observers at Fort Riley, Kas.

Police detailed to guard the machine refused to allow the curious to see it. "If that machine is what they say it is, no one's going to see it," said Capt. Michael J. Calahan.

Hog Prices Reach New High Since Last Year

Chicago, Aug. 22—(AP)—Advances of 10 to 20 cents today pushed hog prices to a new all year high. Top was $7.25, the highest since last October.

Light receipts at the market and active demand for good pork cuts resulted in brisk trade. Top hogs are now more than $2 above the all year low reached during the June slump. Average price of hogs yesterday was $6.18 as compared with below the $5 mark during June and $5.72 a year ago. Best wholesale pork loins are still quoted at 21 cents a pound, the highest price of the year, reached Aug. 12.

Top hogs at other markets ranged from $6.85 to $7.25. Indianapolis reported $7.20 and St. Louis $7.10.

CENSOR STAFF INCREASED

Hamilton, Bermuda, Aug. 22—(AP)—More than 100 censors, including several women, have arrived from England to assist the Bermuda staff in handling a greatly increased flow of mail due to calls from ships of the American Export line.

The announcement last night said they arrived "this week". Several hundred pouches of mail are removed from each of the American ships stopping at Bermuda.

Pedestrians Figure in Nearly Third of Serious Automobile Accidents

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22—(AP)—Pedestrians figured in nearly one-third of the serious automobile accidents in Illinois during the first half of this year, the state highway division reported today.

Statistics gathered by state police showed that there were greater numbers of deaths, injuries and accidents during the first six months of this year than for the first half of 1939. There was a proportionate increase in traffic volume, however, and the death ratio remained at 12 fatalities for each 100,000,000 miles of travel.

There were 1,038 persons killed in Illinois traffic accidents during the first six months of 1940 compared with 964 for the corresponding period of last year.

REPUBLICANS TO OPEN FAIR WITH PROGRAM FRIDAY

Green, Brooks Speakers for First Day of Lee County Attraction

Tomorrow, Friday afternoon, the Lee County Fair and Horse Show opens with a full program. The afternoon will be dedicated to Republican Day with a fine speaking schedule besides the regular attractions of the fair and horse show.

Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor of Illinois; C. Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for United States Senator; and Werner Schroeder, Republican national committeeman from Illinois, will be on the afternoon program, which starts at 2:30. The candidates will be accompanied by a group of Illinois G. O. P. leaders headed by Ben L. Berve, chairman of the state committee.

No Admission Charge

The Republican Day program will be open to the public with no admission charge either at the gate or at the grand stand until after 4 p. m., so that all who wish may come and hear and meet the candidates and also enjoy all the other features of the county fair, with its splendid horse show, free vaudeville acts, music, exhibits, booths and the various amusing and instructive attractions.

A large crowd from all over this section of the state is expected for Friday afternoon and evening and for Saturday and Sunday.

Democratic Day Saturday

Saturday has been designated Democratic Day and on Saturday afternoon the Lee County Democratic organization has arranged an interesting program which will feature an address on political issues by Hon. H. E. Rouland.

The entries for the fair and horse show closed last evening and every department reported a greater increase over last year's record than has been anticipated. In the department for swine, the entries totaled more than 200 and there were about 100 entries in the department for light horses, which is the show class. About 100 head of dairy cattle began arriving at the park today and the beef cattle department promised about 75 entries.

Anti-Aircraft Group

An added novel feature of the Sunday night show was arranged today through the cooperation of Sergeant A. A. Piergalski, in charge of the army recruiting station in Dixon and Reinhart Schnell, manager of the Dixon Municipal airport. Sergeant Piergalski has succeeded in securing the presence of an anti-aircraft group from Fort Sheridan, which will arrive in Dixon Sunday.

The unit consists of a battery of powerful searchlights with the power unit, which will be set up at Assembly park in the evening. About 9:30 Sunday evening Clifford Allbright and Reinhart Schnell will leave the Dixon airport in a plane which will reach a high altitude flying near Assembly park. The Army anti-aircraft unit will locate the plane in the sky with the sound devices and then the powerful battery of searchlights will spot the plane in the sky.

British Desire for Alliance With U. S. is Officially Denied

London, Aug. 22—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman emphatically denied today that Britain is seeking a military alliance with the United States.

He laughed off the question of a reporter who asked if Britain would refuse an alliance if it were offered.

Usually well informed quarters yesterday said Britain is seeking an alliance.

Willkie to Wage Vigorous Battle Through Country

New York, Aug. 22—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, decided today to conduct a stumping campaign which an aide called "as extensive a campaign trip as has ever been made."

Willkie summoned Republican National Chairman Joseph W. Martin to come by plane from Washington late today to discuss itinerary details with him and Samuel Pryor, vice chairman and eastern campaign manager.

"We are taking into consideration the wishes of every state", Pryor said.

"Mr. Willkie wants to meet as many people as possible", he added. Pryor said that nothing definite would be determined about the dates and routes until Martin had studied tentative itineraries which already have been gone over with Willkie.

He said that it might be necessary to advance the proposed opening campaign address at Coffeyville, Kas., now set for mid-September, to permit Willkie to make a swing through the west and return in time for certain eastern appearances.

Willkie is considering appearing at Boston for the national convention of the American Legion on September 24, and would like to appear the next day at the New York state Republican convention at White Plains.

Plans Southern Drive

Another objective of Willkie's conferences today was coordination of anti-Roosevelt campaign activities among southern Democrats.

A chartered plane brought the nominee here from Rushville, Ind., last midnight. He will return early next week to set up personal headquarters in that midwestern farm community.

Willkie arranged a talk tonight with John W. Hanes, former Under-Secretary of the Treasury in the Roosevelt cabinet, and Lewis W. Douglas, the president's first budget director. Those one-time administration officials are heading an organization of independent Democrats supporting the Republican candidate.

There has been talk among the Willkie forces of creating a "National Union."

Aerial Torpedoes Used by Germans Really Huge Bombs

Berlin, Aug. 22—(AP)—Observers here said today that the "aerial torpedoes" which some British reports were dropped in England last night probably are large bombs, possibly of 1,000 kilograms (2,205 pounds).

Observers say the 1,000 kilogram bomb resembles a torpedo in many respects. It has fins on the tail and a barrel shaped fan behind the fins to steady descent.

Some are as much as 10 or 12 feet long. When pitched from planes they pursue a forward course, squirming and wriggling until the combination of gravity and forward speed causes the air to "take hold" of the fins and force a curved course downward.

Bombs of 1,000 kilograms, carried by huge bombers of all nations, are used only on special missions of heaviest destruction. They will tear out a space in moist ground two stories deep and 60 to 100 yards wide.

(London reports said an explosive, apparently an aerial torpedo which is intended for use against ships, was jettisoned over in a southeast town. A row of houses was knocked down.)

Personnel Joint Defense Body Is Near Publication

Washington, Aug. 22—(AP)—President Roosevelt summoned top military, foreign and legal officials today to a conference on the acquisition of western hemisphere naval and air bases from Great Britain.

Called to the meeting were Secretaries Stimson and Knox, Attorney General Robert Jackson and Sumner Welles, Under-Secretary of State.

Stephen Early, White House press secretary, said their discussion with Roosevelt would follow up, and perhaps conclude, an initial conference which the same group held yesterday on legal aspects of the base negotiations.

"Afterward the president hopes to be able to make some announcement to you", Early told reporters.

Asked whether the meeting would also involve the proposed sale of United States destroyers to Britain, the press secretary said he did not know.

LaFollette Wants Data

Defense plans for the organization of a joint U. S.-Canadian defense board and the acquisition of military bases in British possessions were reported all but complete today.

Roosevelt, returning to the capital from New York where he reached a broad defense agreement with Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King, said he hoped to make public today the names of the American members of the strategy board and set them to work immediately on plans for improving defense.

At the Capitol, however, Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis.) demanded that the public be informed of current negotiations with the British empire.

LaFollette told reporters that he recognized the necessity of secrecy in negotiations such as those in progress with Canada, but he thought that any plans for military commitments should be revealed.

Economic Defenses

Legislation to reinforce western hemisphere economic defenses through a half billion dollar loan fund to control exportable surpluses today awaited senate action after winning house approval, 183 to 144.

Although the house last night gave the measure only a 39 vote margin, senate Democratic leaders hoped for final passage in that body of the proposal recommended by Roosevelt to halt dangers of

Powerful Batteries Shell British from French Sea Coast

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

It is not surprising that a British foreign office spokesman should deny this morning the statement by unofficial but well informed sources in London that England is seeking a military alliance with the United States.

The desire for such an alliance is no surprise, since Premier Churchill for many years has advocated the closest possible relations between England and the United States. But one would scarcely expect such a project to be publicly broached at this juncture in view of the opposition which it would be bound to encounter in many quarters in this country.

Had this information come direct from Alfred Duff-Cooper, who is minister of information, the position would have been quite understandable. He has been coaching us for months on how to get into the war.

Personally I was waiting with much interest to see whether the American reaction to the suggestion of an alliance would be of a nature to encourage pursuit of a subject. The British foreign office has acted with remarkable speed to avoid discussion of the matter.

It is true that the suggested alliance as outlined unofficially is by way of putting further teeth in the Monroe Doctrine. It would embrace the defense of Canada and other British possessions in this hemisphere.

Many Americans may find it hard, however, to see how such a pact could avoid commitments which would be wider than the western hemisphere. Indeed, the London sources say that the alliance as envisaged now also "would form the basis for common diplomacy in the Far East at the conclusion of the European conflict". That means, of course, common action in handling Japan.

This statement about an alliance came on the heels of the advocacy by former Minister of War Hore-Belisha of a union between England and America which, so far as I can puzzle it out, would give us dominion status.

After Premier Churchill had referred to British-American cooperation as "rolling along like the Mississippi", he said: "If the trend should lead to the same kind of consummation as we hoped for in the case of France—namely an eventual common citizenship—all the evils of this war will have been worth while."

The proposal to France never was made fully clear to the general public. However, in the present instance it would seem that we would be accorded a position as one of the units in the British commonwealth of nations. If you are acquainted with Mr. Hore-Belisha's very Britanic personality you won't let this suggestion make the hairs stiffen on your neck. You can be sure it never would occur to him that America ought not to be highly complimented to be permitted to return to the days before good old George the Third called for his pipe and tried for his bow and called for his fiddlers three and staged the tea-dance in Boston harbor.

By The Associated Press

Powerful German shore batteries on the French coast, firing from a range of more than 20 miles, shelled a mile long British convoy in the Straits of Dover today—injecting a new sting in the nazi-proclaimed air and sea blockade of Britain.

Small merchant ships in the convoy, escorted by warships, were hugging the English cliffs when a battery of four guns on the distant shore, near Boulogne, suddenly opened fire, but most of the missiles fell into the sea.

British warships laid down a smokescreen to aid the escape, and the convoy passed through the straits without an apparent casualty. Nazi warplanes continued the air siege of England and in scattered, small scale attacks, while in southeast Europe Mussolini's high command reported sharp new blows against British naval forces in the Mediterranean—two warships torpedoed, two others "hit repeatedly" by bombs.

An Italian communique said a fascist torpedo boat sank a British submarine and a fascist under-seas craft torpedoed a British destroyer in the eastern Mediterranean.

Egyptians Take Positions

In Cairo, the war ministry disclosed that an Egyptian mobile division has already taken up positions to resist any invasion by Italian troops, who presumably would strike from Libya in the west. Large Italian troop concentrations have been reported there. Lieut.-Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander of Britain's Middle East armies, warned that Hitler, thwarted by England's stout defense of her island kingdom, may enslave Napoleon and "turn east in search of easier success".

Bad flying weather again hampered British and German aerial punches and counter-punches. The German high command said nazi fliers attacked 14 British airfields and numerous industrial plants, ports and rail facilities in widespread sorties yesterday.

German military observers cited airplane attacks on shipping west of Ireland as demonstrating the far-reach of nazi blockade of Great Britain and said today the U. S. army transport American Legion, bound out from England, may enslave Napoleon and "turn east in search of easier success".

No Nazi Guarantees

United States' proposals to take children to safety from England were termed "humanitarian"—but impractical. The Germans said they could not possibly guarantee such ships safe conduct since they would have to pass through fields of mines that could not be controlled.

Egypt debated war policies for five hours and clung to her former stand—no declaration of war against Italy unless the Italians attack or invade.

Rumania's delegates to the Transylvania conference with Hungary were called home last night amid reports that Rumania was working out a compromise which might prevent collapse of

Uncle Sam Plans to Sell His Model Townships Soon

Washington, Aug. 22—(AP)—The apron strings that tie three model communities to the federal government may be cut this winter.

The Farm Security Administration is working with citizens of its three "greenbelt" towns toward the final step in putting the low-cost housing developments "on their own".

The FSA, still "landlord" to the model towns, hopes by December to sell them either to local housing authorities or to non-profit corporations representing local interests.

The three towns—Greenbelt, Md. (near the capital), Greendale, Wis. (near Milwaukee) and Greenhills, O. (near Cincinnati)—now have local self-government. City managers run Greenbelt and Greendale, the citizens electing a council which lays down policy. Greenhills is run by a mayor and council.

The towns' citizens also have a say in the management of many local enterprises, which are organized as cooperatives.

The government's desire to turn the towns loose on the real estate side is explained partly as a move to fit the communities more closely into the life of their states and counties. Being adjuncts of the federal government, it was said, tended to set the "greenbelt" towns apart from their neighbors as different.

The FSA hopes to work out a plan under which the local group either will rent all the houses of the town from the federal government, or will buy the town property on a long-term sales arrangement.

Because of their unusual design, their traffic-free park areas, underpasses and other "model" features, the three towns have attracted many visitors. Officials estimate that from 5,000 to 12,000 persons visit Greenbelt, for instance, every Sunday.

FSA officials say the model towns have given an impetus to similar developments by private capital, and point to such undertakings as Parkhurst Homes in Brooklyn, N. Y., and the factory village of the Glenn Martin Company near Baltimore.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

More Democrats In Willkie Camp

O. M. W. Sprague, financial and executive assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury from June to November, 1933, sent this telegram to Wendell Willkie:

"Please include me among the former Roosevelt Treasury officials who are supporting you in this campaign. I do so, among other reasons, because I am confident that you agree with the good old hymn that we cannot be carried to the skies on flowery beds of ease, substituting for skies, adequate defense and full employment."

Former Judge William H. Adkins, of Easton, Md., a lifelong Democrat, has endorsed the views recently expressed on the third term by former Judge Samuel Seabury and Frederic R. Coudert, of New York.

Judge Adkins served on the Maryland bench for twenty-seven years and, as chief judge of the Second Judicial Circuit, was a member of the Court of Appeals from 1919 to 1934. He made the following statement:

"If there were no other reason for opposing the election of Mr. Roosevelt, his casual disregard of the anti-third term tradition, going back to the beginning of our history, would be sufficient."

Cleveland (O.) Press

Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, one of Cleveland's leading churchmen and liberals, today parted company with President Roosevelt on the third-term issue.

The Rabbi, for 20 years spiritual director of The Temple and a staunch, though at times critical, admirer of the President and his achievements, reiterated his earlier expressed opposition to the third term and "indispensable-one-man-rule" and indicated a preference for Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee and opponent of President Roosevelt in the coming elections.

● SERIAL STORY

MURDER INCOGNITO

BY NORMAN KAHL

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Hazel Leighton explains that she intended to "get" Saylor through a breach of promise suit or a marriage settlement, but the lawyer found out about her scheme and her plan to marry another man, tricked her into a confession and offered to pay her $5,000. Hazel admits Saylor intended to brand him as a "weirder." At Harbor's, O'Leary is surprised to find doors opening by electric eyes. Harbor tries to justify his theft. Rhoda Waters has just left when the officers arrive at her apartment.

CHAPTER X

WITH O'Leary dragging him by the arm, Carroll reached the hot street and entered the police car. O'Leary leaped into the seat beside him.

"What's the idea, Chief?" Carroll asked.

"Sergeant, if you were a girl on the lam, how would you get out of town in a hurry?"

Carroll thought that over briefly. "Fly, I guess—sure, that's it. She took a plane. But where did she go, Chief?"

"Maybe nowhere yet." O'Leary glanced at his watch. "Twenty minutes to 2. There's a plane for New York at 2. My hunch is that Rhoda Waters is planning to take it."

THE 2 o'clock plane for New York was waiting at the passenger gate with its giant engines rumbling in monotonous melody when Carroll slid the car in front of the administration building at the airport. O'Leary bounded up to the ticket desk and produced his badge.

"Have you a Miss Rhoda Waters on that plane out there?" he demanded. An efficient official hastily consulted a chart and nodded.

"She bought a ticket a little while ago. She wouldn't have got it except that someone else canceled his reservation at the last minute."

"Good," O'Leary said. "Listen, we don't want any fuss. Have the stewardess go into the plane and tell her to come out for a minute."

Sergeant Carroll wiped his moist forehead with his handkerchief as he and O'Leary waited in the passenger room. In a few minutes, a stewardess came in with Rhoda Waters. Rhoda looked around curiously, and when her eyes fell on the officers, red flushed involuntarily in her cheeks.

For an instant, it appeared she intended to flee. Then she composed herself and walked over to where the detectives were standing. "Did you send for me?" she asked.

"Yes," O'Leary said curtly. "Stewardess, have Miss Waters" bags taken off the ship. She won't be traveling with you."

Rhoda's eyes flashed fury and her lovely features reflected the anger in her heart. "How dare you! I'm not a criminal. You can't order me around like this. I haven't done anything."

"Why were you leaving, Miss Waters?" the lieutenant inquired calmly.

"That's none of your business. I can go as I please. You've got your murderer. What more do you want? Let me go. I intend to take that plane."

O'Leary was patient. "I know how you feel, Miss Waters, and I'm sorry. But you'd better stay here, voluntarily. Otherwise—"

The girl looked appealingly at the lieutenant and then a freshet of tears rolled gently down from the corners of her eyes. "I just wanted to get away. I couldn't stand it any longer. Dale knew I was going. He was going to meet me in New York in a few days. We were going to get married."

She sat down on one of the long benches. From her large, red handbag, she extracted first a handkerchief and dabbed at her tears. Then she opened a tiny make-up kit and patched up the tear-plattered rouge. "I'll go back," she said.

O'Leary patted her awkwardly on the shoulder. "That's better. I'm really very sorry it has to be like this. Murders are always disagreeable though, for everyone. Come on, we'll take you back."

DALE APPLEBY was surprised to find O'Leary and Carroll waiting for him in the study when he came downstairs. There was a spring in the young man's step, a lifting note in his voice.

"We wanted to look around once more," said O'Leary.

Dale smiled graciously. "The place is yours. Look around all you like. If there's anything I can do to help—"

"You can go over the whole story again, if you don't mind," O'Leary suggested. "We want to be sure everything is straight. You can tell Sergeant Carroll all about it—in the drawing room, if you will. I'd like to look around this place once more."

When Lieutenant O'Leary was alone, he stood for a moment in the center of the broad room, and little furrows creased his brow unevenly. He looked about the room, as if grasping for something tangible—something that would give a key to the sinister mystery of Martin Saylor's violent death.

of Texas will meet in Dallas, Aug. 28, according to word received from Mike Hogg of Houston, son of one-time Governor James Stephen Hogg.

L. A. Casey, Fort Worth oil man, said the Texas-for-Willkie Club, which he heads, will tie up with the anti-third term group.

Purpose of the meeting according to a statement by Hogg made public by Casey, will be a "protest against the attempt of the Democratic party to destroy the two-term tradition, and to devise ways and means of defeating it."

Stanley High, a New Deal crusader in 1936, has offered his support to Wendell Willkie.

Dr. High, former editor of the Christian Herald, was president of the Good Neighbor League, which promoted the Roosevelt candidacy in 1936.

Dr. High wrote Willkie giving three reasons for his change: (1) the dominant position occupied by "extreme" New Dealers, (2) the city political machines, supporting Mr. Roosevelt, (3) "the doctrine of indispensability" of the President's acceptance speech.

Let's Stand on Our Own Legs!

Does Hitler plan to invade the United States? You hear many conjectures about this. Reported conversations with Hitler or his leaders are set down, giving his allegedly clear intent. Elaborate deductions are drawn from his written or spoken words. He himself explicitly denies any such intention. Partisans of one view or the other argue at great length.

For the life of us, we can't see what difference it makes.

Does that sound crazy? We don't think it is. The job before us is to attain, as quickly as is humanly possible, a state of preparedness such that the United States and its policies do not depend on the intentions of a foreign ruler.

If Hitler does plan to invade the United States—well, there is only one answer: prepare, prepare, prepare!

If he doesn't, the answer is precisely the same. The mere existence of an aggressive military force of the kind he maintains and on which he has built the hegemony of Europe, means that a country like the United States must have such force at its disposal that it can make its own policy, no matter what policies are adopted abroad. If Hitler has no intention of interfering in American affairs, that's fine! American strength will help to fortify that excellent intention.

Europe cringed for seven years asking the breathless question: What Will Hitler do?

Let us stop asking that question in the United States. Let us place ourselves in a position where we can say: "We don't care a plugged nickel WHAT Hitler does!"

What does it mean to be prepared? It means to develop such force that invasion will be but a slim temptation. It means to develop such force that national policy is not decided by what some far-off potentate dreams up, but by our own national interest and our own devotion to justice and right.

It is time to stop asking that fatal question, "What will Hitler do?" It is time to begin to make others ask with equal interest "What will the United States do?"

There was a mackerel or a red herring somewhere on the peculiar course designated for the army transport American Legion and its approximate location can be fairly well-guessed. The course was selected by the navy from a map issued by the British government July 15 and published July 24, showing the route through the German minefields. The more direct way, via Iceland, would have led through the British minefields. Obviously someone here did not mind placing responsibility for the safe passage of the vessel on the Germans.

So many impartial non-political hosiannas were raised over Roosevelt's selection of the non-political, Claude R. Wickard as secretary of agriculture that the simultaneous installation of Wallace's political expert, Paul Appleby, as undersecretary of agriculture was overlooked. Appleby has been Wallace's political mentor and the head of the faction in the department which has been working for the last two years upon the assumption that no job would be too good for Wallace's talents. Wickard has been an administrator of the north central section corn-hog program and has wide contacts in the farm belt.

The Duce's great victory in Somoliland was about as glorious as his conquest of Albania, and equally unimportant. With a much larger army, better equipped with tanks, planes and trucks, he routed Punjabs, native Africans, and a partially motorized camel corps. Berbera is of no strategic advantage except as an air base.

Legislators have also learned privately that German espionage in England is so efficient, bombers repeatedly appeared over factories at crucial points in their operation (such as the occasions for pouring molten pig iron) disrupting production.

This evidence is what Navy Secretary Frank Knox must have had in mind when he recently publicly asserted that Britain was suffering more than the American people knew.

There was something about the arrangement of the books in the room that bespoke Saylor's character—his insistence upon order and organization. Each book was lined up perfectly, indented about two inches from the edge of the shelf. Sets of law books were arranged by numbers, and miscellaneous volumes were all carefully placed in alphabetical order.

In the cases between the fireplace and the window, O'Leary discovered two books transposed. The entire shelf contained state supreme court decisions. Volume 1915 had somehow got squeezed between 1916 and 1917 and was jutting out about an inch farther than the others. O'Leary started instinctively to replace the heavy volume to its rightful position when he stopped.

"That's strange," he muttered to himself. "I wonder—"

And then, suddenly, the lieutenant stiffened. He walked swiftly to Saylor's desk and pressed a button. Willows, the butler, appeared presently.

"Tell the housekeeper I want like this. Murders are always disagreeable though, for everyone. Come on, we'll take you back."

LEUTENANT O'LEARY was still peering abstractedly into the bookcases when Dale Appleby and Sergeant Carroll returned to the room half an hour later. For several seconds he appeared not to have detected their presence. Then he turned slowly.

"Mr. Appleby," he said, "I'll have to trouble you once more. I want to use this room tonight, and I'd like to have everyone here—say at 8:30. Will you call them, please? Those who were here last night. And I'll want the servants on hand."

Appleby looked startled. "Of course, Lieutenant, but I—"

"Just a little idea of mine," O'Leary said brusquely.

Still perplexed, Dale left the room. Carroll edged over to his superior. "What goes on here, Chief?"

The lieutenant thrust his hands deep into his coat pockets and teetered on his toes. "Sergeant, this may be a very interesting evening. I believe I know who murdered Martin Saylor—and how it was done."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Aug. 22.—A startling rumor in vague form, suggesting the recent fall in the Nazi air attack was called for some inside peace dickering, brought startled officials here straight up in their chairs several days ago. The German terms were reported surprisingly (and suspiciously) moderate, calling for overthrow of Churchill, installation of Lord Beaverbrook as prime minister, a military, political and economic alliance against Japan and Russia which would bring also restoration of the German colonies and Hitler domination of the Dutch East Indies.

It was this suggestion which is supposed to have sent Mr. Roosevelt traipsing off post haste to the Canadian border for a stronger dual defensive understanding with Premier Mackenzie King. It is also assumed to have been at least partly an inspiration for his sudden move to get bases from the British for defensive positions in this hemisphere at once. Such a Nazi-British rapprochement would, of course, leave the present American foreign policy high and dry.

The state department has been officially denying knowledge of any peace rumors, an attitude which naturally must be maintained toward such delicate feelers as these in their initial stage. Obviously any such offer would have to be made surreptitiously by German over Churchill's head to those of the former Chamberlain group, and therefore, it seemed highly questionable how much would come of it.

Congressmen have seen photographs showing Britain has taken a much harder pounding from the air than the censors have let the world know. While these pictures antedate the latest stages of the air blitz, they show the extent to which piers, docks and factories suffered greatly earlier.

Legislators have also learned privately that German espionage in England is so efficient, bombers repeatedly appeared over factories at crucial points in their operation (such as the occasions for pouring molten pig iron) disrupting production.

This evidence is what Navy Secretary Frank Knox must have had in mind when he recently publicly asserted that Britain was suffering more than the American people knew.

There was a mackerel or a red herring somewhere on the peculiar course designated for the army transport American Legion and its approximate location can be fairly well-guessed. The course was selected by the navy from a map issued by the British government July 15 and published July 24, showing the route through the German minefields. The more direct way, via Iceland, would have led through the British minefields. Obviously someone here did not mind placing responsibility for the safe passage of the vessel on the Germans.

So many impartial non-political hosiannas were raised over Roosevelt's selection of the non-political, Claude R. Wickard as secretary of agriculture that the simultaneous installation of Wallace's political expert, Paul Appleby, as undersecretary of agriculture was overlooked. Appleby has been Wallace's political mentor and the head of the faction in the department which has been working for the last two years upon the assumption that no job would be too good for Wallace's talents. Wickard has been an administrator of the north central section corn-hog program and has wide contacts in the farm belt.

The Duce's great victory in Somoliland was about as glorious as his conquest of Albania, and equally unimportant. With a much larger army, better equipped with tanks, planes and trucks, he routed Punjabs, native Africans, and a partially motorized camel corps. Berbera is of no strategic advantage except as an air base.

Legislators have also learned privately that German espionage in England is so efficient, bombers repeatedly appeared over factories at crucial points in their operation (such as the occasions for pouring molten pig iron) disrupting production.

This evidence is what Navy Secretary Frank Knox must have had in mind when he recently publicly asserted that Britain was suffering more than the American people knew.

other base to bombard the very important British base of Aden, and Mussolini already had bases closer to that citadel. He might try to land parachute troops behind Aden, but hardly a military authority here believes such adventure holds much chance of success.

Workers around Democratic headquarters are beginning to believe Roosevelt will have to get out and speak for himself and may shortly counsel the White House to do so.

Head Wound Fatal to Leon Trotsky During the Night

Mexico City, Aug. 22—(AP)—Leon Trotsky, world famed leader of the Russian revolution, died last night, the victim of a pickax assassin whom the goated little revolutionary accused of being a tool of the "OGPU or a fascist—most likely the OGPU."

The leader of the fourth international, who long feared "death at the hands of Stalin," made his accusation against the dread Russian secret police on his death bed. He succumbed to head wounds inflicted Tuesday.

An exile from Russia since 1929 and a refugee in Mexico since Jan. 9, 1937, the former soviet war commissar lay today in a casket to which was pinned his last words:

"I am sure of the final victory of the fourth international. Go forward."

Coupled with the 60-year-old revolutionary's accusation against the OGPU was the statement of Police Commander Jesus Galindo that his assassination "has the aspects of an international plot."

Brain Pierced

The police chief declined to elaborate on his statement concerning the fatal attack on Trotsky, the second within recent months.

Trotsky's brain was pierced by a pickax wielded by Frank Jackson, who for months posed as a "great admirer" of the chieftain of the fourth international.

Jackson, beaten by guards, was taken to the same hospital where Trotsky died.

Trotsky's associates, and Trotsky himself, charged Joseph Stalin, head of the soviet union and long time political foe of Trotsky, and the OGPU, Russian secret police, with responsibility for the second assault on Trotsky within three months. May 24 he escaped harm in a machine gun attack for which more than 20 Mexicans were arrested.

Slayer an American

Jackson confessed immediately after the assault Tuesday night, but police resumed their questioning a few hours after Trotsky died.

In his first statement Jackson said he decided to kill Trotsky after being "disillusioned" by the Russian's recently expressed political views. Police said that Jackson was not a Belgian, as he claimed, but an American citizen formerly of New York City.

Police also detained a woman listed as Sylvia Agaloff of Brooklyn, N. Y., whom they said was Jackson's sweetheart, but whom Trotsky's associates said they thought was Jackson's wife.

She said she was unaware of any assassination plot and wept as she recalled she had introduced Jackson to Trotsky. She said she was a sister of a former secretary of the exiled Russian.

Mrs. Trotsky and surgeons were in Trotsky's tiny hospital room when he coughed, gasped feebly and died. Mrs. Trotsky wept softly and said "That is life."

Body Lies in State

At first the hospital said the body would be kept there overnight for an autopsy but early today—after a death mask had been made by the noted Mexican sculptor Ignacio Asunsolo—it was removed to the chapel of a private funeral home to lie in state.

President Lazaro Cardenas, who gave Trotsky refuge after Norway expelled him at Russia's behest, sent Gen. Hernandez Lamont, a member of his official staff, and three aides to the chapel to pay Mexico's respects.

Funeral plans were uncertain. Some of Trotsky's aides said burial "very likely" would be in Mexico City, but definite plans had not been made.

In New York, James Cannon, secretary of the Socialist Workers party in the United States—and mentioned by certain Trotsky followers as likely new head of the fourth international—said:

"We plan to hold the funeral here to give the working people of New York an opportunity to show their reverence for the memory of this great leader and their hatred and contempt for Stalinism."

In the chapel, Trotsky's face showed through a glass cover of the casket. A satin coverlet extended to the chest, over which his hands lay folded. The bandage still remained on his head, but a deep gash showed over the right ear where the assassin drove the pick into his brain.

Ashton Couple to Observe 60th Wedding Anniversary

—Telegraph Photo

MR. AND MRS. E. F. CHAPMAN

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Chapman will celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary on Sunday at the farm home north of Ashton in Lafayette township where they have resided since their wedding day, Aug. 25, 1880. A family dinner at noon, which all of the couple's eight children and their families expect to attend, will be followed by an open house reception from 3 to 5 p. m.

Mrs. Chapman is the former Miss Susanna G. Phillips. She was born in March, 1859, the youngest of ten children of John and Mary (Brown) Phillips of Wilmington, Dela. She was only six years old, when she came west with members of her family to settle on a farm two miles east of the Chapmans' present home.

Mr. Chapman was born Aug. 14, 1858, at Grand View, Louisa county, Iowa, near Muscatine. His parents were Madison G. and Harriett Lavina (Chenoweth) Chapman. His father was named for the county and town from which he came in Kentucky.

Mr. Chapman came to Lafayette township in 1870 to make his home with an uncle, Justice of the Peace John R. Chapman, who purchased the couple's present home in 1867. It was Mr. Chapman's uncle who married the couple at the Phillips home in 1880, and in 1884, he succeeded his uncle as justice of the peace to prevent a threatened division of the township due to lack of an official.

Mr. Chapman pronounced the wedding vows of his youngest daughter, Harriett, when she became the bride of James Taylor of Chicago. Other children are Mrs. Nellie Raymer, who resides near her parents; Mrs. Myrtle Confer, Lindenwood; Mrs. Nora Jones of Helena, Mont., who reached Ashton last Saturday accompanied by her son, James, to attend the anniversary celebration; Mrs. Elsie Schulta, Grandy Center, Iowa, who is expected to arrive Saturday; Frank Chapman, Dixon; Philip Chapman, whose family resides with his parents; and William

If all of the Chapmans' family are able to carry out present plans for attending Sunday's celebration, it will be the first occasion they have been assembled under the parental roof at one time in several years. Mrs. Jones has traveled nearly 2,000 miles to be present for the festivities.

Mr. Chapman takes pride in the fact that he is worthy patron of Ashton chapter, No. 575, O. E. S., and that his eldest daughter, Mrs. Nellie Raymer, is filling the station of worthy matron. He has served as chaplain of Ashton Blue lodge, No. 531, for the past 14 years, and is also a member of Keystone Royal Arch Masons of Rochelle.

Grayson's Scoreboard

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

Golf is perhaps the only game in which a left-hander has not scaled the heights. Many second-flighters swing from the wrong side, but one has yet to win a major championship.

Norman Brooks, Beals Wright, Lindley Murray and Johnny Doeg captured tennis crowns with deceptive southpaw strokes.

Opponents played to their strong side from force of habit. They were accustomed to attack an opponent's supposedly weak backhand and, since they seldom tackled a southpaw, they usually gave them plenty of opportunity to hit from the left wing.

Just as a right-handed boxer is confused by what he considers the awkward style of a fellow with his right foot forward, so most right-handed tennis players find it puzzling to anticipate the unorthodox counter-moves of a southpaw.

Left-handers are discouraged at a tender age in golf. More than one of the first-flighters of today were turned around by professionals.

Yet aside from the difficulty in finding matched sets of clubs, the left-hander is not handicapped on the course.

The swing is precisely the same.

A southpaw's hook is equivalent to a right-hander's slice, but there are hazards on both fairway flanks and traps on each side of the green. A crooked shot is penalized in either case.

There is no mechanical reason why a southpaw shouldn't hit the ball as straight and as far as a right-hander.

Since golf is a two-handed game, a southpaw should be helped by the fact that his right hand is normally better developed, comparatively speaking, than a right-hander's left. A left-handed person is forced by a sense of propriety to do many things with his right hand.

Equipment is another matter. A southpaw can pick up an occasional club that suits him, but manufacturers seldom produce matched sets of left-handed clubs. The southpaw may have a couple of woods graded for balance, but the chances are he can't find a spoon to match. It's the same with iron sets.

So the paucity of topnotch left-handed golfers is explained by the numerical odds they face and the fact that their bags usually lack a few weapons.

Soose Wins from Zale But Cannot Claim Ring Title

Chicago, Aug. 22—(AP)—Billy Soose, the shifty and sharp boxing master from Farrell, Pa., has created an unprecedented situation in middleweight history.

This 23-year-old former Penn State college boxer holds the distinction of having conquered both claimants to the title within a month, yet he does not possess the most important thing—the title itself.

Last night on Chicago's west side, Soose surprisingly defeated the deadly punching Tony Zale, the "blonde buster" of Gary, Ind., recognized by the National Boxing Association as middleweight champion in 10 blistering rounds.

A month ago Soose whipped Ken Overlin, recognized as champion by the states of New York and California. Both bouts were fought over the middleweight limit of 160 pounds, the significant bar which prevented the championship from passing into the eastern youngster's hands. Soose scaled 162 and Zale 161.

Unanimous Verdict
The verdict of the two judges and Referee Joe McNamara was unanimously in favor of Soose over the Gary puncher, who had won his last 12 bouts. He jabbed considerable prestige out of Zale's title, obtained when Zale defeated Al Hostak of Seattle, Wash., in a 13-round knockout July 19. Last night's verdict met with the howling approval of 7,000 fans.

The prospects of a return match between Zale and Soose at the middleweight limit, possibly at the Chicago Stadium opening the winter boxing season, was in the making today, although Sam Pian, co-manager of Zale, said he was in no hurry for the engagement.

Neither Zale nor Soose left the ring with any marks of their blistering encounter. Zale, without even a trace of a scratch, grinned over the defeat, and expressed his willingness to meet his conqueror with the title at stake.

Low Jenkins Willing To Fight at Any Time

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 22—(AP)—Low Jenkins, the tough little Texan currently holding the world's lightweight boxing title, is ready to fight anybody who says he doesn't want to fight.

He made that clear during a brief stopover here last night while en route to Philadelphia for a Sept. 9 bout with Bob Montgomery.

The fight originally was set for August 19, but Jenkins wanted to postpone because of the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. M. L. Jenkins in Sweetwater, Tex.

Springfield, Cedar Rapids, Even Today
By The Associated Press
Springfield and Cedar Rapids of the Three Eye league were all even today in their important first place series and the Red Raiders still were a game and a half from the top.

Cedar Rapids bounced back to win last night, 9 to 4, after losing the series opener, Paul Gunter of Springfield and Ray Poat of the Raiders were engaged in a 3-3 pitching duel when Cedar Rapids uncorked a six-run eighth inning to settle the issue.

Decatur and Evansville both gained on third place Clinton. After Decatur had taken a twilight game from Waterloo, 6 to 3, Evansville trimmed Clinton 5 to 3. Clinton holds a one game edge over Decatur, which in turn is a half game in front of Evansville.

In the other game, Barkleew gave Madison but two hits, but the Blues won 1 to 0 behind Kash' three-hit hurling.

BECOMING HABIT
Champaign, Ill., Aug. 22—(AP)—To softball pitcher Louis (Lefty) Miller the no-hit game is becoming something of a bore. He's pitched six of 'em so far this season.

Two Games Sunday at West Brooklyn Will Draw Crowds

Dixon Knacks, leaders in the Illinois State League will play

Maytown in the second game of a double header at West Brooklyn Sunday, Lee meeting West Brooklyn in the first game. Maytown defeated the Knacks the last time they played and as the Dixon team needs this game to stay on top it should be a great battle. Baseball fans will have a chance to see a number of the players who are leading the field for positions on the League's All-Star team. Foster of West Brooklyn is leading the second basemen; Flanagan of Dixon is leading for shortstop honors; Miller and Kuhn are leading all the outfielders so far in the voting. Besides these leading players the boys who are pressing the leaders are Carlson and Windmiller of Dixon and Studinski and Negro of Maytown.

As a baseball player, a gentleman and one of the finest liked men in baseball around these parts, Kay Knauer, is leading all pitchers in the league—a fine tribute to a man who has spent years playing baseball. On the field, off the field, wherever he plays, fans all over the league have nothing but praise for him. A great winner and a fine loser, he blames no one if he loses a ball game.

Another man who has plenty of friends around the Illinois State League is Hi Emmert, manager of the Knacks, and he like Knauer is proving it by leading the All-Star team. The Rev. Fr. Halbmaler, manager of Maytown also has been around in baseball for a number of years, having great ball teams and always giving the fans what they want. His double headers at Maytown on Labor Day each year have always drawn great crowds. This year he is looking forward to Labor Day when Walton plays Maytown in the morning and Amboy plays Maytown in the afternoon.

Vanishing Mike Brings Sudden End to Tirades
Wichita, Kas., Aug. 22—(AP)—Listen, my children, and you shall hear of the Vanishing Mike ball players fear.

Hardly a fan in the stands hasn't wanted to hear what an unbridled athlete unloads on a blue-serged seer.

Hardly a fan at the National Semipro Baseball tournament game between the Wichita Stearman and Mount Pleasant, Tex., Cubs heard what he expected at the debut of the jack-in-the-box microphone.

For your information, an arm swinging player is simply relaying to the arbiter his wife's method of whippin' up his favorite salad.

At least, that was indicated by Arthur Van Haren at the 1940 tournament's first good home-plate row.

The setting was perfect. It was the last of the ninth; the score tied at 4-all. Six Wichita players charged Umpire Van Haren after he ruled on Mickey Flynn's smash down the foul line.

While the gradators were at their vocal best, Flynn slipped behind them and stepped on the button which raises the mike. Its appearance brought a sudden end to the dispute.

Van Haren glared at the mike, then blared: "And if it wasn't for that thing I'd really tell you something personal."

EVERY SLUMP A TONIC

The 14-straight losing streak of the St. Louis Browns stands firm as the 1940 major league record. No National League club seems able to get as far as 10 in the backsliding department.

Three times—the Pittsburgh Pirates in the season's first month the Boston Bees in July and the Phillies in early August—a National League outfit has been smacked 9 games in a row, but old No. 10 never goes up on the taximeter registering reverse progress along Percentage Boulevard.

Furthermore, these 9-timer slumps have tonic effect on their victims. The Frisch Buccaneers when they finished their 8-straight winning streak the other day could look back on a mighty month of progress, starting July 6 by clean-sweeping a double-header with the Reds. The Bee rebound from Slump Hollow when they 10 of their next 13 games, which is 76.9 travelling.

The Phil's streak is just over, but as the Doornthronium head out on their westward trek, team signals pave their way. Beware of a ball club just out of a losing streak. They're hot.

AHEAD IN STRIKEOUTS
When Whit Wyatt breezed past the century mark in strikeouts August 9, way out in front of all contenders, the Brooklyn ace was well on his way to repeating his 1938 stardom at Milwaukee where his 237 ERA was the best in AA history since 1920. His strikeouts totalled 208, the runner-up having 134.

REDS NEAR ALL-TIME RECORD
Driver's seat in the September Drive in this year's redhot National League pennant race belongs to the Cincinnati Reds beyond all argument. This century performance has been surpassed only once. The 1907 Chicago Cubs' 730 after 100 games played stands as the all-time National League record.

The Reds this year won 66 of their first 100. The 1919 Reds grabbed 68 on their way to the pennant and world championship. Between 1919 and 1940, only one club won more than 66 of its first 100, the 1929 Chicago Cubs, with 68.

PENNANT RACES IN MAJORS FULL OF 'MELERDRAMA'

Five Heroes and Single Villain of Deepest Dye Uncovered

By BILL WHITE
Associated Press Sports Writer

This major league baseball roundup could very well be turned over to the drama department.

Take the National league, for example. In three of the four games yesterday, a generally-unsung hero came through with a crashing blow to win. Or the junior circuit, where top dramatic achievements were turned in by two winning pitchers, and where a villain of deepest dye was uncovered.

Piece by piece, the National league's most exciting moments were there:

In Cincinnati, the New York Giants, still functioning well with that patch-work lineup, had Mickey Wittek to thank for their 5-4 victory over the league-leading Reds. In the 11th inning, with Capt. Mel Ott on base, Wittek drove out a sharp single to win the game and keep the Reds from getting too far out in front in the pennant chase. That handed Whitey Moore his third loss of the season to the Jints, who banged out a total of 11 hits—or four more than the Reds could manage off Hal Schumacher and Big Water Brown, who got credit for the win.

In Chicago, Charley Frey, pinchhitting and by trade a right-handed pitcher, slapped out a 10th-inning home run with a mate on base to give the Phillies a 7-5 win over the Chicago Cubs. Zeke Bonura had tied the game with a ninth-inning homer, also with a mate aboard. The two clubs pounded out 25 hits as eight hurlers trudged to the mound.

At Pittsburgh, young Vince DiMaggio doubled in the eighth inning to send teammate Arky Vaughan home from first base, and that gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 second-straight victory over the Boston Bees. Young Ken Heintzelman scattered eight Boston hits for his fifth victory.

Cards Trim Dodgers Again
There was plenty of action—if not much drama—in the 7-5 victory the St. Louis Cards managed over the Brooklyn Dodgers. Bumping the Brooks for the third straight time, the Cards bunched five of their six hits with three walks and a stolen base to score six times in the fifth inning. The Brooks couldn't get even closer after that, although Dixie Walker homered in the seventh with one on.

Dutch Leonard headed the American league's parade of leading men with a smartly-pitched eight-hitter that gave him his 13th victory and snapped the Senators' losing streak at five straight. His victims were the St. Louis Browns, and the score was 3-0.

Bill Beckman did a nice pitching job for the Athletics, limiting the White Sox to five hits and blanking them, 3-0. He didn't let a Sox runner past first, Jackie Hayes got two of the Sox blows. The "villain"—as all Detroit will tell you—was Al Benton, fourth Tiger hurler to face the New York Yankees. In the ninth, with one out, Red Rolfe on third, Joe DiMaggio on second and George Selkirk on first, Benton's control deserted him completely, and he walked Bill Dickey on four pitched balls—forcing home Rolfe with the run that gave the Yankees a 6-5 decision.

Boston's tattered Red Sox took a double loss, losing a game to the league-leading Cleveland Indians, 4-2, and losing third-baseman Jim Tabor for the season. Jim underwent an appendectomy after collapsing on the playing field, while the Sox underwent a triple dose of fancy fielding and timely nitting and effective pitching by Roy Mack, Lou Boudreau and Mel Harder, respectively.

A quarter-acre wheat field at the New York fair, costing $1,000 to plant and maintain for two years, yielded a seven-bushel crop worth about $6.33.

Miss Mary Grace O'Neill, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. O'Neill, became the bride of Anthony Pawlowic, son of Mrs. Helen Pawlowic of 946 Liberty street, Aurora.

The marriage took place Tuesday morning, August 20, at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's Catholic church in Rochelle. The pastor, the Rev. Father Thomas O'Brien performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace and net over satin, with puffed sleeves. The long train and skirt were made with insets of lace which held lilies of the valley. The finger-tip veil was held in place by a halo of seed pearls. She wore a heirloom brooch of her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Grace, and a gold cross, the gift of the groom. She carried a pearl rosary.

The bride's bouquet was a shower of white and red roses, with streamers of white gladiolus.

Postoffices of Illinois Ready for Registration

Chicago, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The postoffice system in Illinois prepared its facilities today for the task of registering and fingerprinting aliens beginning next Tuesday.

All first and second class postoffices in the state and others, regardless of class, which are located in county seats will handle the mechanics of the registration under the alien registration act.

A four months period was designated for the registration, from Aug. 27 to Dec. 26. Regulations provide that any alien now in the United States or its possessions and who is over 14 must register. Those who enter after Aug. 27 must register within 30 days. All aliens entering after Dec. 26, of course, must register.

The attorney general's office in Washington, which prepared the regulations, advised any person in doubt as to his citizenship status to register first—to be on the safe side—and then determine his status with the aid of any office of the immigration and naturalization bureau. It was emphasized that registration would not prejudice any valid claim to citizenship.

Data Confidential

Information given in registration is confidential and can not be divulged except by permission of the U. S. attorney general.

Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen of Chicago hired 200 extra clerks to aid in registering Chicago's estimated 180,000 aliens at 42 post stations. The forms require the answering of 15 questions.

Meanwhile Federal Judge William H. Jolly of Chicago, cooperating with the naturalization bureau, admitted nearly 500 men and women to citizenship in hearings this week. Officials said every effort was being made to enable qualified aliens to become citizens immediately so they could avoid the inconvenience of registration. Three naturalization hear-

Mr. and Mrs. C. Walter Jacobs have returned from their vacation spent at Niagara Falls, New York and Canada.

Mrs. Claude Cranford and family of Enid, Okla., returned to their home Tuesday after a month's visit with relatives in Mendota. Miss Erna Becker of Chicago accompanied them home for several weeks visit.

Mrs. Charles Ackley and son of Downer's Grove will spend a month at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Fitch in Mendota.

"SHOTGUN KING" IS DEAD

Los Angeles, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Fred Kimble, 93-year-old "shotgun king" died Monday. Kimble claimed to have invented choke boring and the clay pigeon, thereby revolutionizing shotgun shooting.

New Midwest Gliding Record for Corcoran

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 22.—(AP)—A new mid-west gliding record of 130 air-line miles was claimed today by Stanley Corcoran, 24-year-old Joliet birdman.

It was only three weeks ago that Corcoran flew from Lockport, Ill. to Roann, Ind. to establish a 125-mile mark, but his flight yesterday from Joliet municipal airport to Decatur, Mich. bettered that record by five airline miles. Corcoran, however, is still far shy of the national gliding record of 290 miles, held by John Robinson of San Diego, Calif.

The elapsed time for yesterday's flight, made in a new ship with a 54-foot wingspread, was five hours and 25 minutes.

Commenting on the flight, Corcoran said that at one time in the vicinity of Gary, Ind. he was blown about two miles out over the lake, but managed to maneuver back to safety.

MEAT SURPRISES

Corn and Egg Croquettes
Three tablespoons shortening, three tablespoons flour, one-fourth teaspoon each pepper and paprika, one cup milk, three hard-cooked eggs, chopped, one cup cooked corn, one teaspoon chopped parsley, one-half cup sifted bread crumbs, one egg, slightly beaten with one tablespoon water. (Quantity serves 4 to 6).

Melt shortening in top of double boiler. Add flour, salt, pepper and paprika, and blend. Add milk and cook until smooth and thick stirring constantly. Remove from the fire.

Add eggs, corn and parsley. Spread mixture in shallow pan and chill until stiff. Cut into rounds with biscuit cutter. Roll in crumbs, then in beaten egg, then in crumbs. Fry in hot shortening (375 degrees) one-inch deep in heavy frying pan until brown. Drain on absorbent paper.

Gruyere Croutons

Bread, three tablespoons heavy cream, one tablespoon butter, one cup grated Gruyere cheese, salt, paprika.

Cut bread in finger-shaped pieces, or use any fancy cutter appropriate to the occasion. Toast on one side only. Mix grated cheese with seasonings and cook in the cream and butter until long enough to form a paste. (Use low heat.) Spread this paste on the untoasted side of the bread, and heat two or three minutes in the oven, or under the broiler. Sprinkle with paprika. Excellent hot or cold; serve as appetizers, or with soup or salad course.

ALL-BRAN BUTTERSCOTCH Refrigerator Cookies

1 cup butter
2 cups brown sugar
1 egg
1 cup All-bran
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
Cream butter. Add sugar gradually and beat until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Stir in All-bran. Sift flour with baking powder and work into first mixture, a small amount at a time. Knead and shape into rolls about 1½ inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper, covering ends, so that dough will not dry out. Store in refrigerator until firm. Cut into thin slices and bake on ungreased cookie sheet in moderately hot oven (425 degrees) about 10 minutes.

Yield: 7½ dozen cookies (2 inches in diameter).

Note: One tablespoon water or milk may be added to dough if it is difficult to shape into rolls. Variations:
Chocolate Flavor—Add 2 squares melted chocolate to creamed mixture.
Spice cookies—Add 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon nutmeg and ½ teaspoon cloves to dry ingredients.

Place in baking utensil, dot with butter, and pour the one-half cup warm water around meat. Cover and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 40 minutes, basting occasionally. A well-seasoned white sauce, or tomato sauce, should be served with these. Yield: 8 patties.

Friendship S. S. Class Party
Mr. and Mrs. Glen Albrecht, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tompson and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baumgartner were hosts to the Friendship class on Monday evening at the Albrecht home. Twelve members and one guest, Nina Bogue, enjoyed a delicious covered dish supper at 7 o'clock. The scripture was read by Glen Albrecht followed by prayer which was lead by Milton Burkey. A short business meeting was conducted. Games were enjoyed through the evening followed by dainty refreshments served by the hosts.

SUBSTANTIAL DISHES

Mock Sweetbreads

1 pound cooked veal

¼ pound salt pork

¾ cup soft bread crumbs

½ cup flour

1 egg

½ cup milk

½ teaspoon salt

Dash pepper

1 tablespoon butter

½ cup water (warm)

Grind "left-over" veal and pork. Mix with crumbs, flour, beaten egg, milk, salt and pepper. Shape into eight sections. Place in baking utensil, dot with butter, and pour the one-half cup warm water around meat. Cover and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 40 minutes, basting occasionally. A well-seasoned white sauce, or tomato sauce, should be served with these. Yield: 8 patties.

CHEESE OMELET

1 cup soft bread crumbs

1 cup milk

4 egg yolks

1 cup grated cheese

Salt and pepper

4 egg whites

2 tablespoons butter

Combine crumbs and milk and beat until smooth. Add beaten egg yolks, cheese and seasoning. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Melt butter in heavy frying pan, pour mixture into it and cook, covered, over low heat 25 to 30 minutes. Turn out on hot platter and serve, garnished with parsley.

FOOD NEWS

A real convenience for the homemaker who likes to serve golden-brown French-fried foods is a ready-mixed breading scientifically prepared to give that uniform, bronzed life-guard coating. The practical product, which contains four vitamins, is made from soft winter wheat, blended with egg, milk, salt and pepper in uniform proportion.

New fruit juices are being developed and introduced on the market so rapidly that the buyer can hardly keep track of the bewildering parade. Refreshing as a drink and flavorful as custard sauce is apricot juice, which also combines with more tart beverages. Newest in the line of natural fruit juices from California is a beverage from the famous mission figs. This produce is the pure juice from dried figs cooked in water, with no preservative, flavoring, nor sugar added. For a tart drink, lemon juice may be added.

An oblong wire rack with a handle carries six glass bottles of wine vinegar, of different flavors, bottled in France. The bottles have dasher tops.

Dressing should be poured over a green salad at the last minute, just before the salad is served. Dressing will make crisp green limp in remarkably short time.

Berries are valuable anti-scurvics; in other words, they are helpful in preventing scurvy. Raspberries contain calcium, phosphorus and iron.

On May 1, 1940, there were 869 cities in the U. S. with merit systems, representing an increase of 28.9 percent over 1937.
